SECURE 10 YEAR LEASE

Hein Ornstein Co. to Occupy
Higley's Big Waukegan
Store Building

MAKE MANY ALTERATIONS

Large Amount of Space Will Admit of Greater Displays and Possibly Additional Lines of Goods

By far the most interesting transaction that has occurred in this section for some time, comes to light in the announcement made this week that the Hein-Ornstein company has secured a lease covering a period of ten years on the W. P. Higley department store building located on Genesee street Waukegan.

Mr. Higley is to give possession in time so that alterations can be made in the building in season for its occupancy by the Hein-Ornstein company prior to the opening of the spring trade. The alterations will be extensive and when the elaborate furnishings are in it will be one of the best furnished stores in the state.

This deal also gives Waukegan the distinction of having the largest exclusive cloak and suit house in the state and one of the largest in the country.

That this company should change their location, after building up the splendid business that they have enjoyed, will cause much surprise, but as a matter of fact, a change of location has long been contemplated. While their present lease does not expire until next spring and they have an option for renewal they have not considered their present location as being entirely satisfactory.

The Higley building is to be remodeled and made modern in every respect. A new plate glass front will be put in and also a new stairway to the second floor. Beautiful new fixtures are to be installed. A rest room and fitting rooms with all conveniences will be fitted up. The large amount of space will enable them to add to the assortment and variety of their present lines and will permit them to add other lines if they so desire.

They will have possession of the building in ample time to permit of the many extensive alterations they have in view to be made so that they will be comfortably settled in their new quarters in time to prepare for a grand spring opening. In fact an architect is at the present time busily engaged in preparing the plans.

Mr. Higley has been actively engaged in business in this location for thirty-seven years. It is prophesied that these enterprising merchants will more than double their patronage during the coming year. Although they have always given satisfaction to their customers, they will with the advantage of more room and better surroundings be enabled to display their goods to better advantage and serve their customers in a way that will be highly appreciated by the public.

BROKE ARM BY FALLING FROM TREE

On Thursday of last week Oliver, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Wilton of Lake Villa met with quite a serious accident. While playing with some little companions he attempted to climb a large tree which stood in the yard, and just as he was about to descend the large limb on which he had been sitting broke, throwing him with great force to the ground, with the result that his arm was broken in two places, once at the wrist and once at the elbow, besides his being otherwise bruised and badly shaken up. Doctor Schaffer was called and set the broken bones, and although the patient is getting along as well as can be expected he suffers intense pain as a result of the accident.

Queer Smokes.
"Tobacco," said a tobaccoist, "is one of many herbs that are smoked. In the Orient, for instance, bang, or cannabis, a drug that gives one the desire to caress people's feet, goes into loads of pipes. Some savages smoke the leaves of the wild potato and the wild tomato. These bitter leaves are rare. They throw you into a stupor. Pursued in, though, they bring on insanity. Some of the Swiss guides smoke 'mountain tobacco,' a weed that grows only at great heights. This produces an intoxication akin to alcohol. Our Indians, when hard up, smoke holly and sun-much leaves, and the silvery leaves of 'Indian tobacco,' which every boy has chewed."

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING

Miss Rose Murphy and George Kelly United In Marriage.

On Wednesday morning, August 7, one of the prettiest weddings of the year was solemnized in St. Francis church at Brighton, when Miss Rose Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Murphy of Brighton was married to George B. Kelly of Chicago.

The day was ideal, not a cloud to mar the beauty of the scene or to interrupt the suggestion of a pleasant voyage on the journey of life.

Mendelssohn's wedding march was artistically rendered by Miss Celia McDonald cousin of the bride and the ceremony was performed by Father Freiman in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends.

The bride was beautifully attired in white lace over white silk and carried white and pink brides roses. The bridesmaids the Misses Agnes and Anna Kelly, sisters of the groom, they were attired in white silk and carried pink and white carnations. The groom was attired in the conventional black and was attended by Wm. and Fred Murphy. Charles Murphy and Jerome Lynch acted as ushers.

After the ceremony a bountiful wedding feast was served at the home of the bride. In the evening the happy couple amid the usual showers of rice, took the train for an extended wedding tour through the west.

The bride is one of the most estimable young ladies of the vicinity. She is the youngest daughter of the family and has always been a favorite with relatives and friends.

The groom is also very well known in the community for although moved to Chicago he was born and reared in the town of Bristol. He is an engineer on the Omaha division of the C. & N. W. rail road and although comparatively young in the service is one of the most capable and trustworthy engineers on the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly will be at home after December 1 at 1523 Washington Blvd. Chicago. A host of friends unite in extending congratulations and best wishes for happiness and prosperity.

TEACHERS CONVENE AT WAUKEGAN

The annual Lake county teachers' institute will be held in the high school rooms in Waukegan August 26 to 30.

County Superintendent of Schools Simpson has prepared a fine list of instructions.

Prof. W. M. Giffin of Chicago Normal will take charge of mathematics. The hundreds of teachers who will attend will be taught methods in agriculture and nature study by Prof. D. O. Barto of the state University.

Primary work will be undertaken by Mrs. Morrill of Blue Island. She will introduce chalk modeling. Language and geography are her specialties.

Prof. Arthur J. Yeomans, manual training instructor of Colorado Springs, will talk on paper cutting, weaving, beating and twisting iron and bench work.

Principal Swayer of the South school will have classes in advanced language and geography. Prof. Laughlin will supply the music instruction.

Each day there will be lectures on school topics. Mrs. Page will talk on the relation of school and home. Mrs. Hefferman on literature for children, and Prof. Armstrong on experience with parent's clubs. All are of the Chicago Mothers' Congress.

Prof. Jos. L. Smith, of Highland Park will also lecture. Teachers may choose their studies.

The Old Melodrama.
Above the howling of the wolves the heroine's shrill voice rang over the pasteboard mountains. "Give me those papers," she screamed, "or I shall tear out my hair! Do you hear, Roycroft Rollington?" The heavy villana displayed his white teeth and rolled another cigarette. "Yes, Julia Livingstone, I hear very distinctly," he replied, in measured tones; "but do be careful, little girl. You know the last time you bought your hair they said they were afraid they couldn't match it any more." Crushed to earth, the poor heroine threw herself to the mercy of the mechanical wolves.

CHICKEN THIEVES BUSY

Visited Henry Shepard at Gurnee Last Friday Night and Made a Big Haul

GET TWO HUNDRED CHICKS

Thieves Backed a Rig Up to Coop and Looted It—Family Was Away at the Time

Lake county has had many chicken thefts but here is the most nervy and the largest that has been reported in many years.

According to a report from Gurnee Henry Shepard on Friday night was the loser of about two hundred fine chickens, in the boldest kind of a theft, the robbers of his coops backing a rig right up to the doors and loading up, after which they drove away without anybody being the wiser until the following day when Mr. Shepard noted his loss.

Mr. Shepard and his family came to town to attend the Chautauqua and it was while they were there that the theft took place, likely the robbers knew that they would be absent for the evening and early night and bided their time.

Although the Shepard home was thus left alone, there is a farm house in the same yard, very close to the Shepard house and in it, lives the man who works the farm. The thieves evidently waited until his family had retired for the night and then drove their rig into the yard and backing it to the door of the chicken coop gathered up as many chickens as they could get their hands on, getting in all, as near as can be estimated about two hundred.

No clue to the thieves has been obtained but because of the extent of the theft, it is believed that some trace may be obtained before they finally dispose of their haul.

WOMEN LOATH TO DISINHERIT

Few Mothers Leave Wayward Children Out of Their Wills.

"One feature of women's wills is the infrequency with which they disinherit their children," remarked a lawyer. "It is quite unusual for a mother to cut out a child. Fathers frequently exhibit such spurts of temper. A son or a daughter may do something that displeases him, and to get even he simply wills the disobedient offspring five dollars and lets him go. But mothers can't do that. They are too soft. If ever they show any partiality at all it is in favor of the black sheep of the flock. No matter what a child may have done or how deep his disgrace, the mother only wills him an extra slice of her property to make ducks and drakes with. I have written hundreds of wills in my time, many of them for women. Often I have known my client to begin the interview by declaring: 'Now, there's Willie. He has behaved very badly. I shall cut him off with-out a penny.' I never remonstrate against such a cold-blooded proposition; I don't need to, for before the will is half written her heart has conquered her head and Willie has been given the lion's share of the estate."

The Earth as a Bell. STUDIES OF THE VIOLENT EARTHQUAKE WHICH OCCURRED IN THE BALKAN PENIN- SULA APRIL 4, 1904, MADE BY DR. EMILIO ODDONE, PROFESSOR IN THE UNIVERSITY OF PAVIA, SHOW THAT THE SHOCKS WERE TRANSMITTED THROUGH THE ENTIRE BODY OF THE EARTH, AND WERE REFLECTED FROM THE ANTIPODES BACK TO THEIR PLACE OF ORIGIN IN ABOUT 33 MINUTES. COMPARING THE RECORDS OF OTHER GREAT EARTH- QUAKES, DR. ODDONE CONCLUDES THAT THE AVERAGE TIME REQUIRED FOR A VIBRA- TION TO TRAVERSE THE GLOBE AND RETURN BY REFLECTION IS FROM 32 TO 33 MINUTES. THE EARTH THUS APPEARS TO BE NOT AT- TOGETHER UNLIKE A GREAT BELL SUSPENDED IN SPACE AND VIBRATING THROUGHOUT ITS WHOLE MASS UNDER SHOCKS, WHICH, COM- PARATIVELY SPEAKING, OBSERVES THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, ARE NO MORE THAN THE TAPPING OF A FINGER NAIL. DR. OD- DONE CALLS ATTENTION TO THE INTERESTING COINCIDENCE BETWEEN THE TIME TAKEN FOR A VIBRATION TO TRAVERSE THE GLOBE AND THAT REQUIRED FOR LIGHT TO CROSS THE DIAMETER OF THE EARTH'S ORBIT.—Phila- delphia Record.

Some time late Wednesday night or early last Thursday morning, a horse was taken from John S. Murrie's barn yard at his home near Grayslake. The animal was a good one and Mr. Murrie valued it at $150.

A diligent search for the stolen animal was at once begun and on Saturday the horse was located at Waukegan.

It is not known as yet whether any prosecutions will follow or not.

GAMBLING HOUSE CLOSES

Elaborate Joint at Fox Lake
Closed and Equipment
Shipped to Chicago

MR. QUAYLE "GOT BUSY"

Place Had Operated for Chicagoans Who Spent Money Freely—Operators Feared Arrest

According to advices from the Fox lake region, the reported elaborate gambling room that has operated spasmodically during the summer wherein duly authorized persons only were allowed to play, has been closed for good.

It is learned that the promoters have concluded that it is useless to buck the Lake County Law and Order League and that they have accordingly, shipped back to Chicago, every bit of their paraphernalia which has been in use there.

The equipment is said to have included roulette wheels, stud poker tables, etc., and the place which had been maintained for the purpose of allowing the rich guests to part with their money, was a small cottage near the Minnesota hotel.

It is said to have been a most elaborately fitted out place and only those who had proper qualifications were admitted to the place.

The cause of the suspension of operations was said to be due to the fact that the Law and Order League planned to raid this place and other places in the county, but the tip was passed about and the operators of all managed to avoid being detected.

They accordingly avoided arrest and when the officers went there they were unable to land any of the operators and nothing had been done since then.

However reports that the league was watching things and planning another raid, are said to have caused the operators of the place to decide suddenly to call things off. It is said that they did not wish to longer combat the league and Sheriff Griffin and that they accordingly made up their minds to quit altogether.

They are said to have been doing a flourishing business, the patrons consisting of wealthy and prominent men of Chicago who spend their money like water.

There is no question that the place is closed for good, for Manager J. Herrick of the Mineola hotel, when interviewed regarding the matter, said: "It is true the place is closed forever. The paraphernalia has been shipped away and it will never open again while I am here."

The place in question was said to be the most elaborate affair of the kind that has ever operated in the county. For some time after it started operations it was largely patronized and it was felt the place would operate in a manner that would avoid detection and prosecution because of the secrecy of the methods pursued in allowing people to enter the place.

However, for a long time, Mr. Quayle has been very busy in the lake region and it is felt that the operators believed he would "catch them" if they kept on, hence they took the course above noted.

MANY USES OF HONEY.

Compound One of the Best and Most Nutritious of Foods.

"Honey, one of the most nutritious and delicate of foods, should be eaten more than it is," said a cooking expert. "Bought in the comb it is bound to be unadulterated, and this pure honey will keep its friends free from sore throat and bronchial troubles. I have not had a sore throat since, six years ago, I took to eating honey. My doctor tells me he often recommends honey, with excellent results, for diseases of the throat. Honey is excellent to use instead of sugar for sweetening cakes. It gives the cakes a most delightful flavor. It is also excellent in place of butter, on hot biscuits, on toast and on buckwheat cakes. I know a number of ladies who use honey as a cosmetic. They apply it to the skin, rub it in well, then wash it off with hot water. The result is a finer textured complexion, a glowing color, a young fresh look."

LIFE SAVERS TO THE RESCUE

Kenosha Yacht Capsized in Lake Off
Kenosha Late Saturday Afternoon

Kenosha came near having a lake tragedy on Saturday afternoon when the yacht "Jingo," the smallest of the craft in the Kenosha Yacht Club fleet, capsized in the lake a mile off the Kenosha harbor, and for more than half an hour the three members of the crew struggled to keep themselves above the waves, while the life saving crew in the big surf boat rushed to their assistance and reached them in time to save them from a watery grave.

On board the little yacht were William Voight, Otto Rossmann and Walter Welch. The three boys had gone out on the yacht just after 2 o'clock. The lake was as calm as glass when they sailed out of the harbor and they had planned for a three hours cruise. When a mile out in the lake the yacht suddenly turned over and the lookout for the life saving crew noticed the three boys hanging on the overturned craft and signaling for aid.

The three boys were a little uncommunicative as to the cause of the capsizing of the yacht, and in fact they seemed to consider the whole of the adventure a great joke. It is said, however, that when the yacht was well out of the harbor one of the members of the crew had started to crawl to the top of the mast and that his weight was sufficient to overturn the boat. All of the members of the crew were thrown into the water and when the life savers reached them they were soaked to the skin. However, they were decidedly cheerful and were clinging to the bottom of the boat.

The "Jingo" is said to be one of the staunchest little boats in the harbor and she is able to stand up against a good deal of stormy weather, but lack of ballast is alleged to have been the cause of her turning over on Saturday. The members of the crew were back aboard the yacht on Sunday just as if nothing had happened.

The accident happened in sight of the beach and it caused great excitement. Hundreds of people crowded along the beach and watched the rescue of the boys by the members of the life saving crew.

NARROWLY ESCAPES DROWNING

Joe Montgomery, the Kenosha aeronaut, had a narrow escape from death in Lake Michigan late Sunday afternoon, when he made a balloon ascension at Central Park and the high wind carried him out over the lake. Montgomery was able to swim to the beach, but his parachute sank and it will probably never be recovered. He had been urged not to make the ascent on account of the wind, but he insisted on going up.

He went to a height of several thousand feet when he cut loose the parachute and started to descend. An anxious crowd watched him as the wind caught the car in which he was riding and carried it out to the eastward. When the man came down he was a quarter of a mile from the beach. In some way he managed to relieve himself of his shoes and after floundering about in the water for nearly half an hour he reached the beach just north of the Curtis home on the lake shore road.

LOST AN EYE WHILE WORKING AT THE ICE HOUSE

While working at the Knickerbocker ice house at Silver Lake, George Matron of Wilmet on Monday of this week met with an accident, the effect of which will remain with him throughout his life. He was engaged in loading cars at the ice house and with a companion was in the act of lifting a cake of ice when the tongue which his companion held suddenly slipped from the cake and struck Matron in the face completely gouging out one eye. The wound is necessarily a painful one but it is hoped that beyond the loss of his eye Mr. Matron will not experience any further results.

Dividing the Responsibility.

Early in Baron Huddleston's career at the bar he shared rooms with another barrister. Bodkin went one evening to take tea and wine with the future baron, and he particularly noticed the dirty, slovenly appearance of the clerk who waited upon them, and of whom the host had for the nonce assumed exclusive possession. Bodkin strongly advised Huddleston to insist on a change in the treatment of the youngster's person and appearance, and said it was scarcely decent to have a person in that dingy condition about him. "I do not much like to interfere," was the reply, "he looks upon Mr. T. as his master, and at the utmost I cannot claim more than half of him." "Then," said Bodkin, "I would, at all events, make him wash my half of his face."—Bench and Bar.

SEVERE STORM SUNDAY

Waukegan Sustained Damages to the Extent of $10,000
by Water and Hail

EASTERN LAKE CO. FLOODED

Fire King Reigns With Lightning Bolt
Scepter and Many Barns are Burned and Much Property Destroyed

A violent storm, a feature of which was the largest hail Waukegan and eastern Lake county has experienced since the sixties, damaging streets and houses of the city to the extent of $10,000 late Sunday afternoon and evening.

The extreme sultriness of the day, which made thousands suffer, not a few being overcome for short periods, was followed by fifteen minutes of rattling thunder and long bolts of lightning. Then came several violent showers, during which the power on the electric road and the lighting circuits was off.

Then came the big storm of the day, accompanied by floods that tore streets, bolts that ripped houses apart, and hail that shattered windows, electric arc globes, incandescents, and greenhouse panes, and did other damage.

The hail that fell old settlers pronounce the largest since the sixties.

Daniel Pike of Oak street, an old settler and an old salt and fresh water sailor, stated that he had not seen hail as large as those of Sunday since a storm on the lake in the sixties. This storm came when he was at the wheel and knocked the binnacle light out so that he steered in darkness, while the hail pelted him like brick bats.

Elmer Dietmeyer measured a hail stone that was one and three-fourths inches through the longest way and one and a half through another way.

Alvin Wait measured the circumference of one stone. It was five and a half inches around.

The city of Waukegan was however the heaviest loser, due to damages of the flood to the streets. Every small culvert was swamped and washed out. Great holes were torn into the streets leading down under the hill. Bridges were undermined and embankments torn away.

The flood washed away the embankment of the Washington street culvert to such an extent that the walk on the north side was made unsafe and hung over the ravine.

Coming home from the lakes with a party of four friends in his automobile, Alderman Biddinger was caught in the storm and for shelter ran under the Gurnee viaduct of the Chicago and State Line railroad.

Too late the party discovered that the road under the viaduct was flooded. The machine waded in two and a half feet of water until its engine was killed. Then the alderman and party took off their garments and wading into the muddy water tried to push the machine out.

When a bolt of lightning struck the O. DeMeyer barn on the Dugdale road, there were four men in the barn. DeMeyer was milking a cow. The four men, including DeMeyer, were hurled to the floor. The cow next to the one DeMeyer was milking was struck dead. A horse also perished. The barn had been set afire by the bolt and the men, after they had recovered from the shock, discovered this. They rescued the stock and all the valuables, but the barn was a total loss.

Mrs. Patrick Schall of Wadsworth lost a horse that was struck by lightning in the pasture.

Alce Ode's barn was burned after having been struck, as was also Mr. Ellsbery's barn at Lamb's Corners.

Queer Signs in Tokio.

Maj. Gen. Hoad, who was the Australian officer attached to the Japanese army during the war with Russia, saw some amusing shop signs in Tokio—"Head-cutter" over a barber's, "Extract of fowls" over an egg seller's and "Ladies furnished on the upstairs" in front of a draper's. He had a memorable 24 hours railway journey in a compartment crammed with 40 men, women and children. He made a resolution not to fall asleep, but he woke up in the morning to find that "a patient little Japanese lady had been supporting his head on her shoulder."

The Best Things of Life.

When we look back at the end of the journey of life we shall consider not how much pleasure we had in it, but how much service we gave in it; not how full it was of success, but how full it was of sacrifice; not how happy we were, but how helpful we were; not how ambition was gratified, but how love was served.—Hugh Black.

The Mystery OF Carney-Croft

By JOSEPH BROWN COOKE

(Copyright, 1907, by Story-Press Corporation.)

CHAPTER VII.

A Misplaced Joke.

The door was securely locked and bolted on the inside, as I had left it the night before, and a most thorough search disclosed no other door opening into the room, and no possible place of concealment for anything of the bulk of a man.

The thought of a concealed opening in the ceiling over the bed naturally suggested itself to my mind, but nothing of the sort existed and a moment's examination with a towel on the end of a walking stick showed a layer of dust which evidently had not been disturbed for years.

In short the presence of the envelope on my bed seemed to be shrouded in mystery of the most impenetrable kind; but even it was exceeded in its incomprehensibility by the astonishing contents of the note.

My love for Florence Carney was, I had thought, a secret buried deep in my own breast. Surely I had never told it in all the years that I had cherished it so fondly, and on one occasion at least, I had denied it flatly. Yet it was mentioned here, in as matter-of-fact a way as if our engagement had been formally announced and our wedding day named.

I turned the matter over and over in my mind, as I strolled slowly along in the winding road that led to Hoskins' hotel, but I was no nearer a solution of the problem when I finished my breakfast than I had been when I left the house. There were a number of letters for me at the post office, but I had no interest in them, and, stuffing them unread into my pocket, I wandered back to Carney-Croft, still pondering deeply.

Unlocking the door, I returned at once to my room and again made a careful search for any possible means of ingress after the door was closed and secured for the night. While the lock might have been turned from the outside with a master key, there was still the bolt to hold it, and that this could not have been slipped by any other hand than mine I was absolutely sure. Moreover, there was no hidden mechanism connected with the bolt, which was a simple, commonplace affair, bearing the name of a well-known maker and evidently attached to the door after the house was completed.

Giving up in despair, for the present, at least, I descended to the ground floor again, intending to make a minute inspection of the house and grounds, when a faint odor of cigar smoke attracted my notice, and I saw that the library door was ajar.

Tiptoeing forward, I peered through the opening and beheld, to my amazement, a familiar figure seated comfortably in one of the large leather chairs with his feet resting lazily on another in all the assurance of apparent proprietorship. At the same instant he turned his head slightly in my direction and, uncertain as to whether he had seen me or not, I retreated rapidly and noiselessly up the stairs to my room, where I locked myself in and tried to smother my anger and view the situation logically.

While the manner in which the note had reached me was still as much of a mystery as ever, its contents, at least, were explained, and my fury knew no bounds at the wholly unwarranted impertinence of this sorry attempt at a practical joke.

To me the matter was so sacred, so precious, so entirely my own, that my rage at the frivolity of this contemptible jest drove from my mind all thought of wonder that a man who, I had every reason to believe, was miles away, should be, at this very moment, under the same roof with me.

I sat down and gazed out of the window across the river to the heavily wooded hills in the distance, and made an almost superhuman effort to control myself. Finally I opened the letters that had come by the morning's mail and began to read them in a perfunctory way. The second was from my secretary, and, as I perused it, I suddenly awoke from my apathy and read with interest:

"Two letters came this morning from Mr. Carney, one postmarked London and the other Paris. I forward them, with other papers, under separate cover.

"Dr. MacArdel called this afternoon and was greatly surprised to learn that you had gone away so suddenly and without sending him word. He said he wanted to see you on a personal matter, and seemed quite disappointed at missing you.

"The Jarvis case has been postponed to the fall term."

The letter closed with a few memoranda of business matters and by the time I had finished reading it my mind was clear to an extent that enabled me to see things in a reasonable light and to appreciate that the mystery of the note was as deep as it appeared to be.

Opening the door I strode downstairs, into the library, and up to the figure in the chair.

"Hello!" I exclaimed, grasping him by the arm.

"Better late than never!" he responded with a hearty laugh. "What made you sneak upstairs in that mysterious way? Think I was a ghost?"

"No," I replied, slowly and seriously, "I thought you were a scoundrel, and I owe you an apology from the bottom of my heart!"

"Have a cigar, old man," said MacArdel.

CHAPTER VIII.

A Disappearing Cigar Case.

"What on earth brings you here, Mac?" I exclaimed, accepting his proffered cigar and lighting it with a sudden interest and respect for the traditional pipe of peace.

"Train," said MacArdel, "coupled with an overwhelming desire to seize upon you and take you off with me for a month's vacation."

"So that's why you called at my office yesterday afternoon, eh?" I queried.

"How did you know that I was there?" asked MacArdel.

"My secretary mentioned in his letter that came this morning," I explained. "And it's a great good thing that he did, for while the information only made a big mystery out of what appeared for a moment to be a comparatively small one, it served, fortunately, to clear you in an instant from a very serious charge that I was nursing against you."

"Humph!" said MacArdel. "So that's the way you treat your friends! Condemn 'em without a hearing, eh?"

"Well, Mac," I replied, "this had to positive way, unless he had known that it was true. Now, you are the only person living with whom I have ever talked on this subject, for you will remember that you once intimated pretty broadly that I was in love with Miss Carney."

"And you denied it flatly," he remarked.

"Yes," I replied, "I denied it flatly."

"MacArdel," I said, soberly, looking him squarely in the face, "you've cornered me and I might as well tell you the whole thing. It was three years ago when we talked of this before, and I must have loved her then and from the day I first saw her. But not as I love her now, old man, for now she is my all in all and my only thoughts are for her welfare and her happiness. You know I saw her very frequently when she was living in town, and now that she is away our correspondence is necessarily frequent, so that I can keep informed of her whereabouts and know of her needs from the estate."

"Of course, you could not pay her any attentions unless you meant to ask her to marry you," said MacArdel, "but I don't see any objection whatever to that. I know you haven't any money, but your social position is as good as hers, and you are doing well in your profession. It seems to me that it would be a very appropriate match if you love each other."

"No, Mac," I insisted. "It's better as it is. Considering my position in connection with the estate it would be a mean advantage for me to take, and, Mac, if she refused me, I believe I would kill myself, I'm such a fool over it."

"But suppose she didn't refuse you," said MacArdel softly, laying his hand on my arm.

"When Did You Get It?"

do with a matter that only you and I knew anything about, and what you know about it you have merely inferred. Then, when I saw you here in the house there seemed to be no other explanation at all, at least of the most important part of the thing. But now it is more hopelessly tangled up than before, for, as you were in my office yesterday afternoon, you could not possibly have had anything to do with it.

"Delightfully interesting, I'm sure!" said MacArdel, "and most appropriate when occurring in a house alleged to be haunted. Still, I confess I could follow you more closely if I had some faint glimmer of an idea of what you are talking about."

I handed him the note, and he read it slowly and thoughtfully.

"When did you get it?" he asked.

"Found it on my bed this morning when I woke," I replied.

"Who put it there?" he continued.

"How the devil do I know who put it there?" I returned, excitedly. "The house was locked up and so was the room. The window was open, I admit, but I am positive that no one could have gotten in that way. There are too many vines about it, and not a twig was bent."

"So you thought it was a miracle and that it must have been I who performed it, eh?" said MacArdel. "I know you always maintained that I worked a miracle when I cured your typhoid."

"Hang it all, Mac!" I exclaimed. "I don't care a snap of my little finger how it got on the bed! I want to know who wrote it!"

"Well, I didn't, anyhow," said MacArdel. "I never heard of it before. I suppose somebody wanted to play a joke on you for your temerity in sleeping alone in a haunted house. Pretty poor sort of a joke, to be sure, but I don't see anything to warrant your getting so excited over it."

"See here, Mac!" I said, drawing my chair up close to his, "you don't seem to understand just what I mean. The point is simply this. No one could have written a thing like that, in such a

"No, old man, it's no use talking that way," I replied. "I'll just go on as I've been doing. It's the only thing I can do, as I see it."

"But you a dinner at Sherry's that you propose to her and marry her within two years!" said MacArdel, with a quizzical look in his kindly eyes, and, with a half-hearted grasp of his hand, I accepted the wager with a temerity that was half wishing and half hopeful.

"So you see why I feel so strongly about this note," I said, rising and opening the door, which I had closed carefully on my entrance. "The subject is one that I cannot bear to have trifled with, and, anyway, I cannot imagine who could have read my innermost thoughts so correctly. That puzzles me more than the mysterious appearance of the letter in my bed."

"I fancy we'll be able to explain that without much trouble," said MacArdel, lighting a fresh cigar and laying his cigar case on the table beside him. "These mysterious occurrences always happen in a most simple fashion, after all is said and done. One night last summer I was reading in bed and just before putting out the light I laid my eyeglasses on a little table about six feet from the window. I was perfectly sure about it, for the spring was bent slightly and I had spent several minutes fusing with them before I put them down. The next morning they were gone and never turned up, in spite of the most vigorous search, until the maid found them, three or four days later, hidden completely in the folds of the lace curtain which had blown across the table and caught them up. As my room was on the fourth floor and had been securely locked all night, the affair was quite mystifying until it was so simply explained. We'll find out before long how the letter got on your bed, and that will doubtless lead to the discovery of its author. Have a fresh cigar and show me around the place a bit. It looks mighty interesting and romantic!"

LOAD QUICKLY BOUND.

Binding Pins for Use in Securing the Load of Hay.

Every person moving hay ought to have a set of binding pins. They are made in a minute and serve an excellent purpose for a lifetime. The sketch shows a rope stretched over the top of a load of hay or straw. The upright pin is worked down into the load and the other twisted in the rope and turned around the upright until the load is tightly bound. Then a small rope that is kept tied in end of the horizontal pin is tied to the binding rope and the pressure is held. Each pin is 3 1/2 feet long. One is sharpened and the other has a one-half-inch hole bored through one end. Old fork handles, suggests Farm and Home, are just the thing to make them of. One pin only may be made and a fork used to bind in the manner shown after the load is on.

BITTER ROT IN APPLES.

Methods of Combating This Troublesome Disease.

The following conclusions as to the best method of fighting this disease are given in a recent bulletin of the United States department of agriculture:

1. Bitter-rot can be completely controlled by proper applications of Bordeaux mixture, 92.3 to 98.9 per cent. of sound fruit having been saved by such treatment in these experiments, while the checks rotted completely.

2. Four applications, when made just at the right time, are sufficient to control the disease satisfactorily, but in order to be sure of covering the infection periods one or two additional applications may be necessary.

3. The applications should be made at intervals of two weeks, beginning about six weeks after the trees bloom.

4. It is necessary to spray the trees thoroughly, coating the fruit on all sides with fine mist-like applications.

5. Other diseases, such as scab, leaf-spots, and sooty-blotch, may be controlled in connection with the treatment of bitter-rot.

For the treatment of bitter-rot alone spray the trees thoroughly with Bordeaux mixture at intervals of two weeks until five applications have been made, beginning not later than 40 days after the petals have fallen.

For the combined treatment of apple-scab and bitter-rot, spray the trees with Bordeaux mixture (1) just before they bloom (but after the cluster buds have opened and exposed the flower buds); (2) as soon as the petals fall; (3) a week or ten days later; (4) about 40 to 50 days after the shedding of the petals, and at intervals of two weeks thereafter until, in all, seven or eight applications have been made.

DRYING WEATHER.

Corn Very Sensitive to the Condition of the Atmosphere.

In the drying of corn in the cribs the condition of the weather counts for far more than most people suppose. The corn seems almost like a sponge, the way it pulls in moisture from the atmosphere. In some experiments carried on by the University of Illinois, the corn in two cribs was weighed every week from January 7, 1904, to November 10 of the same year. A record was kept of the condition of the weather and its effect was clearly noticed in the shrinkage or gain in weight of the approximately 20,000 pounds of corn. During the week from January 7 to January 14 the weather was clear and mild and the corn increased in weight 100 pounds. That is, it actually absorbed that weight of water from the atmosphere. The next week was cloudy and the corn absorbed 45 pounds more of water. The next two weeks were dry, with snow, and the corn lost 205 pounds of water. From July 7 to July 14 the wind was mostly in the south and the weather was damp. The corn added to itself 175 pounds of water. The week from September 22 to September 29 was reported as dry and hot, but the corn added to itself 185 pounds of water. The moisture must have been excessive in the atmosphere. A record of the moisture conditions of the atmosphere would be a good thing to go with the report of weather conditions, in comparing records of shrinkages and gains in weight of stored corn.

Horse's Drinking Capacity.

A horse can drink from 45 to 65 pounds of water per day. If the feed is dry, all of this amount will have to be supplied at the trough. If the feed contains a great deal of succulent green stuff, a large amount of the water will be taken into the system in that way and less will be needed at the trough. The safe rule to follow is to allow the horse all it will drink, provided it is not allowed to drink too rapidly.

IT PAYS.

The Value to the Farmer of Keeping Field Accounts.

Many pages of agricultural literature have been wisely devoted to urging farmers to keep account of the different members of their dairies, to the end that the cows that do not show a profit may be disposed of and those that show a proper balance be used to advantage in building up a more profitable herd. In all probability, farmers who have followed this advice carefully and consistently for a few years have found the practice much to their advantage. In no other way than by a careful account can a farmer tell which of his cows is kept at a loss and which, by their superior productiveness, are bearing the burden of a lot of worthless animals in order to show a little profit for the entire dairy.

But there is another way in which the practice of keeping such an account may well result in great profit. Our farms in New York state are divided into fields of different sizes for the convenience of diversified agriculture. Different portions of the farm may be thus pastured or devoted to grain or grass growing. It is doubtful if many farmers know, except in a general way, which of their fields are most productive, or the extent to which they are so, and which fields barely pay the cost of taxes and cultivation.

Not a great way from the barn the ordinary farmer may have a field which will, in ordinary seasons, give from two to three tons of cured hay to the acre. Half a mile from the barn may be a considerable area that will not average over half a ton. But every acre on the farm pays an equal amount of taxes and it takes just as much time and labor to plow an acre of poor land as it does of the more fertile, and the reason for this condition of fertility or lack of fertility comes from the fact that the fields closer to the farm buildings have in time past received more than their fair share of fertilizers and have been devoted to crops that would pay better than the more remote fields.

I dare say that on many farms the farmer, if he pursues this idea carefully and continuously, will find a large portion of his farm is actually not paying expenses of cultivating. Generally speaking, the fact that one choice acre of the farm will produce two and a half or three tons of cured hay per acre and another acre more remote from the barn will produce only half a ton, ought to convince a thoughtful farmer that he himself is responsible for the deficiency. Other things being equal, the remote acre should produce as much in the way of crops as any other acre. It is certainly a slipshod way of carrying on the farm, that the barnyard manure should be dumped around in the fields near the farm buildings because too much labor is required to draw it to the more distant parts of the farm. These being, in all probability, actually hungry for the manure, would respond to generous use of manure and more thorough cultivation.

The farmer himself when this is called to his attention, may have a general idea of the different results from the different parts of the farm, but the systematic and careful method of keeping account with the different fields of the farm will be the best way to bring this directly home to the farmer himself and result more quickly in a change of treatment.

GOOD HAY COVER.

Splendid Method of Protecting Stacks from Rain and Wind.

Where lumber for barns is often dear, temporary roofs of inch boards over stacks serve a good purpose, the boards being carefully selected to have no cracks in them, well painted with some light-colored paint and laid on as shingles are laid, one lapping over the other, and held by a light flexible chain at each end and a staple. Have the ends of the chain attached to large rings which slip over slender poles driven in the ground and with headless spikes driven in like bars, so the winds will not lift the roof. By boring one small hole near the lower edge of each board a wire would tie the two to the chain and not injure the board as staples might.

FOR REFLECTION.

In the care of domestic animals it is easier to prevent disease than to cure it.

Orchards show the application of manure best when spread over the entire ground so that all the roots receive some benefit.

The efficacy of blood in brood mares is quite as noticeable as in sires, and always will make an important showing in the offspring.

In their wild state animals are never subject to live in unventilated buildings. This is one reason why wild animals are healthy.

Boys, better a job on the home farm with small but sure gains every year than a clerkship, $10 a month and shiny pants in the big city.

A TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

How a Veteran Has Saved the Amputation of a Limb.

B. Frank Doremus, veteran, of Roosevelt Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., says: "I had been showing symptoms of kidney trouble from the time I was mustered out of the army, but in all my life I never suffered as in 1897. Headaches, dizziness and sleeplessness, first, and then dropsy. I was weak and helpless, having run down from 180 to 125 pounds. I was having terrible pain in the kidneys, and the secretions passed almost involuntarily. My left leg swelled until it was 34 inches around, and the doctor tapped it night and morning until I could no longer stand it, and then he advised amputation. I refused, and began using Doan's Kidney Pills. The swelling subsided gradually, the urine became natural and all my pains and aches disappeared. I have been well now for nine years since using Doan's Kidney Pills."

IN THE NAME OF CHARITY.

Jack London's Story Carries Sting of Truth and Pathos.

"Jack London's famous definition of charity—'sharing a bone with a dog when you're as hungry as the dog'—recalls a story about charity," said a magazine editor, "that I heard Mr. London tell at a farewell dinner in New York before he sailed away on the Spark."

"Mr. London said two old men were smoking and drinking together after dinner."

"The host rang the bell and an old woman appeared."

"'Confound you, stupid!' said the host. 'Didn't I tell you I wanted the Scotch? Take this back, and bring what I asked for, you old fool!'"

"'Come, come,' said the guest, after the old woman had hurried away in a great fright. 'Come, come, my friend, don't you think you are rather too sharp with your old servant?'"

"'Oh,' said the other, 'she's not a servant. She's only a poor relation I'm keeping out of charity.'"

"The guest looked relieved."

"That alters the case, of course," he said.—Washington Times.

Social Rank.

At a country dance in a southern town, when the fiddlers had resigned their bows and taken their places on the platform, the floor manager rose.

"Got yo' partners for a cotillion!" he shouted, imperiously.

"All you ladies an' gemmen dat wears shoes an' stockings take yo' places in de middle ob de room. All you ladies an' gemmen dat wears shoes an' no stockings take yo' places immedly behin' dem. An' you bare-footed crowd jist fig it roon' in de corners."—Youth's Companion.

The Modern Child.

Five-year-old Nellie had been naughty all day. Finally her mamma, a very portly woman, sat down and drew the little culprit across her ample lap to administer the long delayed punishment. Nellie's face was fairly buried in the folds of her mother's dress. Before the maternal hand could descend Nellie turned her face to say: "Well, if I'm going to be spanked I must have air!"—Harper's.

The Size of Him.

"Yes," snarled the eminent Octopus who had just returned to him what Shakespeare sarcastically called "trash." "This is my purse, and the contents, $1,143.09, are intact; but it is three days, seven hours and nineteen minutes since I lost it. Where is my interest, young man; where is my interest?"—Puck.

ITALIANS SEEK TO MURDER.

Mob of Section Hands Attempts Life of Roadmaster.

Murphysboro.—Twenty-five Italians, employed on an extra gang on the Iron Mountain railroad, terrorized the village of Fordyce, ten miles west of here, in an attempt to kill Roadmaster Carry, of the Illinois division.

With knives drawn, the Italians rushed upon the roadmaster and the foreman of the gang, John House, when Carry refused them transportation to St. Louis, after they had been discharged by House.

Carry took refuge in a saloon conducted by Richard Siebert and was followed closely by the Italians. The first man to enter the place was knocked down by Siebert, but in an instant he was overpowered and the men rushed after Carry. The chase continued through the village and Mayor Crain telephoned to Sheriff Hanson, of this city for aid.

The mayor and almost the entire male population of Fordyce then went to Carry's assistance and stayed the mob by surrounding it with armed men. Seventeen of the gang were arrested, but the remainder fled to the woods.

GASTMAN FUNERAL HELD.

Body of Former Superintendent of Schools of Decatur Laid to Rest.

Decatur.—The funeral of Enoch A. Gastman, former superintendent of the Decatur public schools and president of the state board of education, was held August 6.

The services were simple, in accordance with the expressed desire of Mr. Gastman. A few months previous to his death, there was a score or more prominent educators from all over the state present, representing practically every educational institution in the state.

Will Meet at Decatur.

Decatur.—The pastor of the church having resigned, members of the Baptist church of Taylorville have asked the members of the First Baptist church of this city to prepare for the annual meeting of the Springfield district Baptist association, which was to have been held in Taylorville. The request was granted and the delegates will convene in Decatur September 4-5. There are 20 churches in the district, the largest cities represented being Springfield, Taylorville, Morrisonville, Pana and Shelbyville.

Fans Mob Physician.

Peoria.—A phalanx of deputy sheriffs and police rescued Dr. Smith and Dr. Dougherty, of Chillicothe, Ill., from a mob of infuriated fans at the entrance of the ball grounds here. Both physicians were in an auto. They had accidentally run down a boy on a bicycle, not injuring the lad but smashing his wheel. The two physicians were severely bruised before being rescued by the officers who charged the crowd.

Shock Caused Death.

Marshall.—Fright at injuries sustained by Bridget Bray, an old family servant, and shock at her own narrow escape from falling down a stairway, caused the death of Mrs. Eleanor Brown, widow of a banker and one of the richest persons in eastern Illinois. The servant leaped forward when she saw her mistress about to fall. She saved Mrs. Brown, but fell herself. Her leg was broken and she was internally injured. A few minutes later Mrs. Brown suddenly expired.

Wild Man Escapes Captors.

Carmi.—Living with a herd of cattle and subsisting on grass and herbs, a wild man was found south of this city in Herald's Prairie township. He was captured by a posse of farmers. The man was nearly destitute of clothing and talked in strange gibberish. The men brought him to this city and were preparing to turn him over to the authorities when he leaped from the buggy in which he had been held prisoner and escaped. All efforts to recapture him proved fruitless.

Will Enforce Auto Law.

Decatur.—There are three or four auto owners in Decatur, who have not yet conformed with the new state automobile law in regard to the numbers on the two front lamps of the machine. Those that have not their machines properly numbered will be liable to a fine of $25 for the first offense and double that amount for the second offense.

New Motor Boat Is Wonder.

Peoria.—The hydrocure, the new motor boat invention of C. A. Manker, of Peoria, Ill., made a speed of 35 miles an hour in a test run on the Illinois river. The hull, and not the engine power, is responsible for the speed, according to the inventor. The submerged portion is wider and narrower gradually to an apex at the stern, where it is of greatest draft. The sides are slightly convex. Instead of plowing into the water at high speed the boat has a tendency to skim over the surface.

Eschews Politics and Talks of "Old World and Its Ways."

Aurora.—William J. Bryan opened the fifth annual chautauque assembly, speaking before an audience of 4,000 people. He did not touch on politics, but told his listeners about "The Old World and Its Ways." During his stay he was the guest of Dr. W. A. Mathews, pastor of the Park Place Baptist church, an old acquaintance.

VOLIVA QUITS IN A HUFF.

New Leader of Zion Decides to Leave the Colony With Following.

Chicago.—Refused the granting of his petition that he be appointed by Judge Landis of the United States district court a co-receiver with John C. Hatley, now in charge of the Zion City property, and unheeded in his protests against the sale of the Zion lace industries, Overseer Voliva, who usurped the place of John Alexander Dowie, has asserted his defiance of the forces organized against him and declared that he would abandon Zion City to establish a colony of his own elsewhere.

Improving Chicago Park System.

Chicago.—Chicago's park system of the South and North sides is undergoing as extensive improvements as mark that of the West side, and it is declared by experts that when all the plans of the three park boards have been carried into effect this city will have a chain of parks unequalled by any municipality in the United States. The South Park board is going ahead with the work of park rehabilitation and extension begun four years ago, while it has plans for the future which are elaborate in the extreme. Over $3,000,000 already has been spent by the South Park commissioners and the projects under consideration call for several more millions.

Was St. Gaudens' Aid.

Decatur.—Miss Frances Grimes of this city, daughter of Dr. Ellen F. Grimes, was the helper of Augustus St. Gaudens, the great sculptor of Cornish, N. H., who died recently. Miss Grimes had been his assistant four or five years. While he was sick, the work in the great master's art room progressed just the same. Miss Grimes carried out the designs of the great sculptor under his direction. She was the last to be under St. Gaudens' personal direction. Those who knew Mr. St. Gaudens recognized the importance in the art world of his coworker, and the two have turned out some noted works of art.

Interurban Route Approved.

Champaign.—General Manager E. E. Fischer and Land Commissioner J. E. Berry of the Illinois Traction system, have made a trip over the route of the system which the company proposes to run out of Lincoln in the direction of Mackinaw. Both men stated that they were well pleased with the progress of the road and the site selected for the new line.

Shop Girl's "Yes" Wins Husband.

Elgin.—A unique romance will culminate August 18, when Annie Glickman of 170 Maxwell street, Chicago, will become the wife of Joseph Waltzman of Elgin. He is one of the city's best-known German Hebrews and is reputed to be rich. Waltzman fell in love with Miss Glickman a few weeks ago while making a purchase at a bargain counter in a Chicago department store where she is employed. During the conversation regarding the purchase he asked her to marry him and she unhesitatingly consented.

TELEGRAPH KEYS SILENT FROM COAST TO COAST

STRIKE OF WESTERN UNION AND POSTAL OPERATORS SPREADING THROUGHOUT ENTIRE COUNTRY AND TO CANADA.

Chicago.—Walk-out of operators of the Western Union company and Postal company in New York was the chief development of Monday in the spread of the telegraphers' strike. The men in the eastern metropolises left their keys without orders of the union officials, but the latter will give support to the action.

Later in the day the Postal and Western Union operators in Philadelphia, those of both companies in Cleveland, Baltimore and Washington quit work.

With Monday's strikes in different cities the struggle extends from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific and from the Gulf of Mexico as far north as Montreal, where about 30 operators went out in sympathy with those of the United States.

Associated Press Men Quit. Many of the telegraph operators employed throughout the country by the Associated Press went out on strike Monday evening. All of the night operators in the New York and Chicago offices quit.

Several of the large brokerage houses yielded to the demands of their operators and averted a strike, in others the men left their keys early in the day.

Backed by Federation. President Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, arrived in Chicago Monday and held a long conference with other labor leaders. He and all the others declared that the federation would support the strikers. Mr. Gompers said:

"As to the merits of the operators' strike I know nothing. But the action has had the sanction of their executive committee and national officers and that removes from the scope of the inquiry any investigation into its merits."

"We assume that an affiliated organization which has legalized a strike has a just grievance, and, adhering to labor union principles, we are determined to give the operators our fullest support."

Whole Country Involved.

Chicago.—With Chicago as the center, the strike of the commercial telegraphers spread to nearly every section of the country Sunday.

The strike fever seemed to run rampant, city following city in suffering isolation.

Numerous meetings of the operators were held Sunday, one of the most important being that of the men employed by the Associated Press. They notified Manager Thomas Sunday evening that they would strike Monday at 7:30 p. m. unless they were granted more pay, an eight-hour day and one day off a week.

Similar demands were made on behalf of the operators employed by brokers and a reply demanded by 10 o'clock Monday morning.

General Strike Threat.

San Francisco.—It was announced Sunday by S. J. Small, national president of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, that if within a few days no way is found to bring about a conciliation in the telegraphers' controversy, a general strike will be called by him.

Mr. Small further said that he had advised Charles P. Neill, United States commissioner of labor, that he could agree to an immediate resumption of work if the government would insist upon an investigation or arbitration of the telegraphers' grievances.

Hundreds Indorse Strike.

Several hundred operators held a special meeting in the quarters of the Chicago Federation of Labor in the Open Board of Trade building during the morning, and the strike was enthusiastically indorsed. The meeting primarily was for the purpose of checking up on the addresses of members of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, but it soon became a ratification meeting. It was decided unanimously that the strike was to be kept up until the last demand of the employees was granted.

A meeting of the grievance and executive committees of the union was held at one o'clock in the afternoon, when the formal demands on the Western Union company were drawn up by presentation. These include the eight-hour day, a 25 per cent. increase in wages and recognition of the union.

Small Rather Reluctant.

Oakland, Cal.—Samuel J. Small, the national president of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, was seen in this city Friday afternoon and submitted a brief interview.

"The subject," he said, "is too delicate to say anything about. Mrs. Nichols is, of course, the storm center of the strike and she and the San

DEMANDS OF STRIKERS.

Summary of Terms Submitted by Operators to Postal Officials with a 30-Minute "Time Allowance."

Fifteen per cent. increase in wages.

Eight hours for day operators and seven and one-half hours for night operators.

Time and one-half for overtime.

Abolition of "split trick" and other obnoxious features.

Right of promotion to be governed by merit, fitness, and ability.

Additional telegraphers shall be compensated at the rate for established positions of the same class.

Lunch and short relief shall be given in the order of application, and whenever possible no telegrapher shall be compelled to work more than four and one-half consecutive hours without a lunch relief.

Telegraphers temporarily filling positions of higher rating than their own shall be paid the salary of the position temporarily filled.

Francisco officers of the company are responsible for what has happened. The latter have not lived up to the agreement adopted two weeks ago. When an investigation is made some things extremely sensational will come out.

"We expect that the whole trouble will be settled in two or three days. President Clowry of the Western Union Telegraph company will have the facts before him in 24 hours and may settle it at once. I cannot say anything about our demands, for everything is in a chaotic condition at present."

"Mr. Stewart of the department of commerce and labor arrived here today and will look into the San Francisco and Oakland situation. He will immediately get into communication with Commissioner Charles P. Neill at Washington and the whole matter will be adjusted quickly, provided Col. Clowry instructs his subordinates to treat the San Francisco and Oakland operators, humanely."

Our Springfield Letter

Special Correspondent Writes of Things of Interest at the State Capital.

Springfield.—A boom for the deep water way congress to be held in Memphis, Tenn., October 4 and 5, was launched by Congressman William Lorimer. It is the intention of the congressman and the lakes-to-the-gulf boomers to stir the entire nation with the appeal that will be voiced at the Memphis conference. The main purpose of the October gathering is to make such a showing and perfect such an organization that congress will quickly provide the $100,000,000 appropriation needed to open a deep water way from Chicago to the gulf of Mexico. Further details of the convention and the plan of campaign to be carried on in the effort to remove the smoked glasses from the eyes of congress will be elucidated at a conference to be held at Chicago soon. At this conference there will be selected 50 delegates to officially represent Chicago at the Memphis rally. Promoters of the water way project are hopeful of large results from the coming congress. At St. Louis last year, where the first general Mississippi valley congress was held, 1,600 delegates were registered. This convention was planned three years before when a delegation, headed by Congressman Lorimer, made a trip down the Illinois and Mississippi rivers, holding meetings in all the important towns in the valley, and organizing deep water way associations. It was determined at that early date that congress would not provide adequate appropriations for the great inland water way until the country was aroused to the importance of the project. As a result of conferences held at that time by western congressmen the "campaign of education and organization" was launched. Much personal work was done by the congressmen, and finally the branch organizations were asked to send delegates to the St. Louis convention, which opened the eyes of several eastern members of congress. It is now proposed to make this year's convention a convincing demonstration of the widespread demand for the lakes-to-the-gulf ship canal.

Decrease in Contagious Diseases.

Reports submitted to the state board of health by local health authorities show a decrease in the number of cases of smallpox in the month of June, as compared with the preceding month of May. While the reports are not yet complete it is apparent that a considerable reduction in the total number of cases in the state has occurred. The number of scarlet fever cases in the state also is reduced. Typhoid, however, shows an increase and a slight increase is registered in the total number of cases of diphtheria. The report from St. Clair county shows that during the month of July there were 35 cases of diphtheria in East St. Louis, with a total of four deaths. The scarlet fever cases totaled 71 with four fatalities.

Cavalry in Camp.

Troop D, Illinois cavalry, of this city, under command of Capt. Charles Walz, is at Camp Lincoln with the First Illinois cavalry. The members of the troop are all old men in point of service, many of them being connected with the organization since its institution in this city. Capt. Ferdinand Sayre, instructor at the United States military school at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., has charge of the drills. He is a member of the Eighth United States cavalry and is a first-class officer. Assistance will be given him in his work by Lieut. Bruce P. Disk of the Third United States cavalry. The Illinois cavalry will be in charge of Col. Milton J. Foreman of Chicago, who will work with the federal army officers in perfecting the men.

Keep Clergy and Charity Rates.

Contrary to the action of the Western and Central Passenger associations, the Transcontinental association lines have refused to adopt a proposition to abolish reduced rates on account of clergy and charity. The three-cent per mile basis of fares is still in effect in many of the states in the Transcontinental association, while in the territory of the Central and Western associations a majority of the states have passed laws making the maximum rate two cents per mile and the roads propose to also make that the minimum fare for everybody.

Politicians Active.

Speaker Shurtliff addressed a Chautauque assembly at Old Salem, Menard county, and William E. Mason spoke at Mount Carmel. Twelve Republican leaders from Randolph county called upon Gov. Deneen at Springfield and protested against the action of Congressman George Smith in urging the appointment of Dr. H. C. Adgerly, of Chester, at the southern Illinois penitentiary to succeed Dr. W. R. McKenzie. The deputation was friendly to McKenzie.

Accused of Seduction.

Gov. Deneen ordered to issue a warrant for the surrender to the authorities of Missouri of Arden Smith, who is wanted at Poplar Bluff, Mo., to answer to a charge of seduction under promise of marriage. Smith is charged with seducing Brina Sandage of Poplar Bluff. He is under arrest in Fairfield, Wayne county, Ill.

Drowned in Sangamon River.

Henry G. Hartman was drowned and George Barnham, A. J. Smith and H. Kiser narrowly escaped drowning in Sangamon river when a gasoline launch in which they were riding struck the bridge and sank. August Fesser of Christian county was also drowned in Sangamon river while swimming.

Election Not to Be Protected.

No protest will be filed against the election held for colonel at Camp Lincoln, when Col. Frank Wood was elected over Lieut. Col. John C. Canbana. It is stated that the matter has been settled and that all have pledged their support to their young leader.

Chicago Railroad Doubles Stock.

The Chicago & Illinois Western Railroad company of Chicago certified to the secretary of state to an increase of the capital stock from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

Praise Gatling Gun Platoon.

Much favorable criticism was given by the regular army officers and by the Fifth Infantry regiment to the maneuvers executed by the Gatling gun platoon.

State Veterinary College.

President James and the trustees of the University of Illinois are preparing an outline for the work of the State Veterinary college to be established in Chicago. Upon recommendation of Gov. Deneen the last general assembly appropriated $30,000 to the University of Illinois for the maintenance of this institution. Prominent business men of Chicago have subscribed $250,000 for buildings and the Union Stock Yard & Transit company has donated a big building site.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The entire yearly income of J. Pierpont Morgan or John D. Rockefeller would not be sufficient to keep Chicago milk drinkers supplied with milk and cream. This fact, and some interesting figures, has just come to light in connection with an effort of dealers in that city to raise the price of milk a cent a quart. The raise would seem trifling to a single customer, but in a city the size of Chicago it means a total increased expense of ten thousand dollars a day, or more than three and a half million dollars a year. The dealers claim that the greater cost of feed, labor and maintenance of plants makes this raise necessary. They also point out that the farmers of Illinois and surrounding states will get a share of the extra money, by reason of the increased schedule of wholesale prices which will go into effect in the fall. The laboratory department of the city has estimated that 855,264 quarts of milk and cream a day are consumed in Chicago—which makes the huge total of 365,000,000 quarts a year.

C. R. Erwin of the Lord & Thomas advertising agency of Chicago has gathered statistics to prove conclusively that the grain crop of 1907 is not going to be the failure that has been so freely predicted, on account of the unusually cold weather. Mr. Erwin investigated particularly the wheat crop, the oats crop and the hay crop and not only did he learn what he wished to know regarding them, but he learned much of the situation in the cotton and rice fields of the south, the tobacco fields of Kentucky, Virginia and the Carolinas, of the corn crop in every section, and of potatoes, rye, sugar beets, fruit, livestock, barley and flax. Only in the case of corn does there seem to have been any appreciable effect from the bad weather of March, April and May. And even the corn crop is said to be merely a backward one, with a tendency to be underdeveloped, but a sanguine hope is entertained that it will come around in time to maintain its place among the other grain crops of the country. New England, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Indiana and the southern states suffered probably the most with their corn crops, but these will probably be offset by the bumper crops expected from Nebraska, Iowa and Illinois, three of the greatest producing states for the grain. Practically nothing but cheering news has been heard from the all important wheat crop. Kansas will harvest 600,000,000 bushels this year, and highly satisfactory stories of the progress of the crop and its attendant prosperity promises have come from Minnesota, the Dakotas, Missouri and the far northwestern states. Rumors of the destructive green bugs have apparently died in the last few weeks, and while it is admitted that the insect did a deal of harm in Oklahoma and Indian Territory, its appearance in other important wheat growing states was short and the damage small.

When the Hair Falls

Then it's time to act! No time to study, to read, to experiment! You want to save your hair, and save it quickly, too! So make up your mind this very minute that if your hair ever comes out you will use Ayer's Hair Vigor. It makes the scalp healthy. The hair stays in. It cannot do anything else. It's nature's way.

Mr. Hillier and family spent Sunday at Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Aichtenberg drove to Burlington on Thursday.

Vera Lubano attended the teachers' institute at Wilmet last week.

George Booth and wife were Chicago passengers Monday Morning.

Those on the sick list are Henry Lubano, Mrs. Bolton and Mrs. Kennedy.

Miss Hove attended the wedding of Miss Murphy and Mr. Kelley at Brighton church on Wednesday.

The Ladies Aid society of Liberty church will meet with Mrs. Havens on Thursday afternoon, Aug. 22.

Mrs. Wallace Drom and children and Mr. Dwight Drom of Antioch, were guests of Jake Drom and family on Sunday.

Those who have stomach trouble, no matter how slight, should give every possible help to the digestive organs, so that the food may be digested with the least effort. This may be done by taking something that contains natural digestive properties—something like Kodol For Indigestion and Dyspepsia. Kodol is a preparation of vegetable acids and contains the very same juices found in a healthy stomach. It digests what you eat. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Great Truth in Few Words.
He is most powerful who governs himself.—Seneca.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative and my book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart, or The Kidneys. Troubles of the stomach, heart or kidneys are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean stomach weakness, always. And the heart, and kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me today for sample and free book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by J. H. Swan.

Jimmie Skopek, a fourteen year old boy employed by the Lake Shore Sand company at Cary, was run over and instantly killed while "flipping" cars at the sand pit one day recently.

While oiling his engine at Silverlake last Wednesday evening, E. W. Stephenson, an engineer on the Wisconsin Central railway, had a part of his right foot cut off. He stepped out of his cab and crossed the track, and in so doing passenger train No. 1 struck his foot.

If there is a county in the state that can produce more varieties of religion (so-called) than Lake County, we do not know where it is located. Of course Zion City takes the lead in number, but the fact seems to be spreading, and an entirely new one has struck North Chicago. The new cult is "The Convention of the New Jerusalem." Land has been secured and a "New Jerusalem Temple" is to be erected at once.

The members of the Kenosha County Board have taken up the discussion of the building of a new jail for that county and there is no doubt but that the matter will be one of the most important questions to be considered at the coming November session of the board. The present jail has been proven inadequate for the demands of the county and it will be absolutely necessary to make some provision for the care of prisoners.

Charles Borck of Powers lake died Monday of last week in a hospital at Chicago. While working the previous Wednesday on the school house at Shades Corners a piece of steel from a hammer struck his eye. He was at once taken to Chicago in an automobile, where it was found that the piece of steel had gone through the eye and was imbedded in the brain. There were hopes of recovery at first. The deceased was 26 years of age and leaves a wife and child.

A petition which was signed by all the lake residents some time ago requesting that Twin lakes be dragged and restocked with fish will be sent to the government officials at Washington. The fishing has not been up to the usual mark this year, owing to the great number of deer fish and carp in the lakes. These fish kill off the young pickerel, bass and perch in large numbers. The lakes were last stocked twelve years ago. To restock them this year will assure good fishing for the lovers of the sport for several years to come.

Chinese Opinion of Women.
Says the cynical Chinaman: "The tongue of a woman is a dagger and she never lets it grow rusty. The spirit of a woman is of quicksilver and her heart is of wax."

"Everybody Should Know"
says C. G. Hays, a prominent business man of Bloff, Mo., that Bucklen's Arnica Salve is the quickest and surest healing salve ever applied to a sore, burn or wound, or to a case of piles. I've used it and know what I'm talking about." Guaranteed by J. H. Swan, druggist. 25c.

Thousands Have Kidney

Trouble and Never Suspect it.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physician, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

"We never repent of eating too little," was one of the ten rules of life of Thomas Jefferson, president of the United States, and the rule applies to everyone without exception during this hot weather, because it is hard for food, even in small quantities, to be digested when the blood is at high temperature. At this season we should eat sparingly and properly. We should also help the stomach as much as possible by the use of a little Kodol For Indigestion and Dyspepsia, which will rest the stomach by digesting the food itself. Sold by J. H. Swan.

"The most popular remedy in Otsego County, and the best friend of my family," writes Wm. M. Dietz, editor and publisher of the Otsego Journal, Gilbertville, N. Y., "is Dr. King's New Discovery. It has proved to be an infallible cure for coughs and colds, making short work of the worst of them. We always keep a bottle in the house. I believe it to be the most valuable prescription known for lung and throat diseases." Guaranteed to never disappoint the taker, by J. H. Swan's drug store. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Good Beer and Good Health

Dr. Ashbell Parmelee Grinnell, First-Vice President New York Medico-Legal society, states that the drinking of good beer promotes health. The reason is simple.

Pabst Blue Ribbon The Beer of Quality is made from Pabst Eight-Day Malt that is matured by a special process which follows Nature closely and retains in the malt all of the wholesome, healthful food properties of the barley-grain.

The Pabst Perfect Brewing Process transmits these qualities, together with the invigorating properties of the choicest hops, to Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer in predigested form, ready for immediate assimilation by the system.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by J. H. Swan, druggist. 50c.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause in congestion, pain in blood pressure—nothing usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—cures blood pressure, pleases the mind, soothes the nerves, pleases the stomach, soothes the bowels, is surely equal to the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. It's a painful period with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bruse your finger and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol relieves indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol for dyspepsia does not only relieve indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy helps all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for baby.

Kodol Digests What You Eat.

Bottles only. Relieves indigestion, sour stomach, belching of gas, etc.

FINALLY ROUSED UP UNCLE.

How a Crowd of Villagers Stirred the Sage of the Cracker Barrel.

There was the usual crowd of villagers sitting on the postoffice steps waiting for the mail to be distributed, and among them was Uncle John. He had joined the sitters without saying a word, and at the end of fifteen minutes one of the men winked at the crowd and said:

"Well, Uncle John, have you heard about the big earthquake in Vermont, with 10,000 people killed?"

Uncle John looked at him in a weary way and shook his head. "And the cyclone in Connecticut yesterday and 600 houses blown down?" continued the man.

Uncle John yawned and was not the least interested.

"The Ohio river rose 200 feet of a sudden the other day and carried the city of Cincinnati down stream. Tons of thousands of people lost their lives. Any of your relatives down there, Uncle John?"

The old man slowly shook his head and reached down to pick up a silver and pick his teeth with it.

"And the whole state of Pennsylvania is caving in," said the joker, "and by to-morrow there will be a great lake where 5,000,000 or 6,000,000 people have lived."

Uncle John took the news without a word. In fact, he yawned and stretched over it.

"By thunder, but there goes a rat under that pile of lumber across the street," exclaimed the joker as he rose up. "Say, you fellows—"

But he got no further. Uncle John was across the street and had a club in his hand, and within the next ten minutes he had done a half day's work tearing down the pile to get at the rat. He had been aroused at last.—Kansas City Journal.

TWO WAYS OF LOOKING AT IT.

Wife's Sneering Comment Met with Sharp Answer.

Gelett Burgess at the recent dinner of the American Booksellers' association of New York said: "I once knew a San Franciscan who married a girl for her money. She was not a pretty girl, and as time passed and love cooled, she developed a rather tart tongue.

"One day her husband bought with his quarterly allowance a 20-horse-power automobile. He took the car home gayly and brought his wife out to the front door to look at it. She gave one sneering glance, and then said:

"It's very fine, but if it hadn't been for my money, it wouldn't be here."

"Well, Mamie," said the husband, quickly, "if it hadn't been for your money you wouldn't be here yourself."

USED BY THE DOCTORS.

Ninety Per Cent of the Drugs Prescribed Are Patent Medicines.

Despite the opposition of physicians, especially of those whose experience has been neither far reaching nor profitable, to "patent" medicines, ninety per cent of all drugs that physicians use are put up and compounded by manufacturing concerns,—are, in fact, "patent" medicines just as truly as if they were advertised in the newspapers.

The average doctor knows little or nothing of pharmacy and is, therefore, glad to depend on the very medicines, which in public he condemns, just as he is obliged in many cases to depend on the diagnosis of the patient himself, even while publicly decrying what he calls "self-diagnosis." How rapid has been the growth of the professional use of "patent" or "proprietary" medicines is shown in an article written for the Journal of the American Medical Association for September 23, 1906, by A. Jacob, M. D., LL. D. He relates that 50,000 prescriptions, compounded in several drug stores were carefully examined. From 1850 to 1870 no prescription was found for "patent" or "proprietary" medicines. In 1874 but one prescription in 1,500 called for ready-to-use remedies. Between 1875 and 1880 the number calling for "patent" or "proprietary" medicines equaled two per cent of the total. This increased to 5 per cent in the period between 1880 and 1890. In 1895 it was 12 per cent. In 1898 it was 15 per cent, and in 1902-1903 was from 20 to 25 per cent.

Dr. Jacob says that in a large store he was assured that 70 per cent of the prescriptions were for "patent" or "proprietary" medicines, and this probably is approximately the correct proportion at the present time. From this it would seem that if the "patent" and "proprietary" medicines are good enough for physicians to prescribe in seven cases out of ten they are good enough for family use in cases of necessity and where the symptoms are well known and as easily understood by the people as by the doctors.

Always the Politeness.

A Germantown woman was not long ago watching a workman as he put up new window fixtures in her house. "Don't you think that you have placed those fixtures too high?" asked she, having reference to the curtain rods just put in place. The workman, a tall German, made no reply, but continued to adjust the fixtures. "Didn't you hear my question?" demanded the lady of the house. "How dare you be so rude?" Whereupon the German gulped convulsively and then replied in the gentlest of voices: "I had my mouth full of screws, and I could not speak till I swallow some!"—Harper's Weekly.

Call Like a Kangaroo.

More like a jack rabbit or a kangaroo is a calf recently born in a western state. Its front legs are quite a little shorter than its hind ones, and it has no tail at all. Instead of moving and frisking about like its playmates, the odd looking creature covers the ground by leaps.

No, Not as a Rule.

George P. Angell, Boston's brilliant and powerful defender of animals from cruelty, was talking about nature faking.

"My friend, Will Long is no nature faker," he said, "but I admit that many of our myriad nature writers are. These men's idea of a lie seems too closely to resemble that of a little boy I know."

"The boy's teacher said from her desk one afternoon:

"I want every pupil who has never told a lie to hold up his hand."

"There was a doubtful pause. Two or three hands were raised. Then my little friend piped out:

"Teacher, is it a lie if nobody finds it out?"

Depends on the Dogs.

"Asa Goddard, of the American Automobile association, was recounting in Worcester some of his touring adventures.

"One summer morning," he said, "the approach of a great flock of sheep obliged me to pull off the narrow country road. I halted my car, and watched with interest the passage of the sheep, the intelligent dogs and the shepherd."

"I had a short talk with the shepherd about his odd and difficult trade."

"Look here," I said, "what do you do, driving sheep like this on a narrow road, when you meet another flock coming in the opposite direction?"

"Well," said the shepherd, "ye just drive straight on, both of ye, and the one that has the best dogs gets the most sheep."

Fell Into Bad Company.

A canny Scot was brought before a London magistrate on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. "What have you to say for yourself, sir?" demanded the magistrate. "You look like a respectable man, and ought to be ashamed to be here."

"I am verri sorry, sir, but I cam' up in bad company fra Glasgow," humbly replied the prisoner.

"What sort of company?"

"A lot of teetotalers!" was the startling response.

"Do you mean to say teetotalers are bad company?" thundered the magistrate. "I think they are the best of company for such as you."

"Beggin' yer pardon, sir," answered the prisoner, "ye're wrong; for I had a bottle of whusky an' I had to drink it all myself!"

AS THE BOY UNDERSTOOD.

Probably to His Mind Conflict of Authority Was Vital.

In one of the Atlanta Sunday schools recently the lesson for the day had to do with Mammon and the corrupting influences of great riches.

Toward the close of the exercises, says Harper's Magazine, the superintendent called upon the infant class to repeat the golden text, which had special reference to man's inability to serve his Creator and the money god at one and the same time. The class failed to respond as it should, when the superintendent, noticing his own young hopeful in the ranks, who had that very morning been drilled thoroughly on the text, called to him. The response was immediate, though a slight departure from the original, for in a voice that was distinctly heard in all parts of the room there came the following modification:

"Ye cannot serve God and mamma!"

NO RELIEF FROM ECZEMA

For Over Two Years—Patent Medicines, Quack Cures and Doctors Fail—Cuticura Succeeds.

"I was very badly afflicted with eczema for more than two years. The parts affected were my limbs below the knees. I tried all the physicians in the town and some in the surrounding towns, and I also tried all the patent remedies that I heard of, besides all the cures advised by old women and quacks, and found no relief whatever until I commenced using the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent. In the Cuticura Remedies I found immediate relief, and was soon sound and well. C. V. Beltz, Tippecanoe, Ind., Nov. 15, '05."

In Extremis.

The yacht was heavily becalmed. There were but ten bottles of champagne in the lockers. Their last signal of distress had been sent up, without bringing any response.

"Gentlemen," exclaimed the commodore, in a quivering voice, "I can no longer conceal the hideous truth from you. Sobriety stares us in the face!"

It was a wildly various scene which ensued. Some blasphemed, some prayed, some, in an access of frenzied wantonness, sang songs, while some sat stolidly by, awaiting their fate with at least an outward calm.—Puck.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. F. Gerald Blattner, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "Your Castoria is good for children and I frequently prescribe it, always obtaining the desired results."

Dr. Gustave A. Elsengraeber, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "I have used your Castoria repeatedly in my practice with good results, and can recommend it as an excellent, mild and harmless remedy for children."

Dr. E. J. Dennis, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have used and prescribed your Castoria in my sanitarium and outside practice for a number of years and find it to be an excellent remedy for children."

Dr. S. A. Buchanan, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have used your Castoria in the case of my own baby and find it pleasant to take, and have obtained excellent results from its use."

Dr. J. E. Simpson, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."

Dr. R. E. Eskildson, of Omaha, Neb., says: "I find your Castoria to be a standard family remedy. It is the best thing for infants and children I have ever known and I recommend it."

Dr. L. R. Robinson, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria certainly has merit. Is not its age, its continued use by mothers through all these years, and the many attempts to imitate it, sufficient recommendation? What can a physician add? Leave it to the mothers."

Dr. Edwin F. Pardee, of New York City, says: "For several years I have recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."

Dr. N. B. Sizer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I object to what are called patent medicines, where maker alone knows what ingredients are put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use."

My dear Fanny
Of course you know I am doing my own work. No and getting on fine. No the first time I had a dickin' a time with my storked ironing. and by the way must tell you. I had such a time with iron sticking declared would never attempt it again. Was telling my next-door neighbor she asked if I was using Defiance Stork. So said No. so she gave me enough for the following time. It is just lovely with this stork. I can do my ironing in one half the time. It is actually fun to use it. The way the iron slips over the clothes. Never sticks. Am finished before I know it. Sometimes wish I had a few more pieces. Love Aunt Fanny. Defiance Stork. Comes in 16 oz packages sometimes 32 oz. Other 12 oz packages. And really it is no effort to iron with it. Defiance - Lovingly yours Aunt Fanny
